

Boundless Lecture Slides

BOUNDLESS.COM

To mark or fix the limits of.

A) simile

B) delimit

C) metaphor

D) weasel phrases

A datum used as the basis for calculation or for comparison.

A) simile

B) weasel phrases

C) monotony

D) baseline

To analyze an idea in detail by separating it into its parts.

A) pandering

B) weasel phrases

C) dissect

D) monotony

In order for your speech to be easy for your audience to follow, it is important to fully understand what you are speaking about. Which of the following is a good way to assure that you understand your topic?

- A) Understand the question your speech will be answering.
- B) Make sure you understand the meaning of all the terms you plan to use.
- C) All of these answers.
- D) Decide what purpose your speech will fulfill.

Tedium as a result of repetition or a lack of variety.

A) delimit

B) monotony

C) weasel phrases

D) pandering

The use of a word or phrase to refer to something that it isn't, invoking a direct similarity between the word or phrase used and the thing described, but without the words like or as, which would imply a simile.

A) delimit

B) weasel phrases

C) metaphor

D) pandering

A figure of speech in which one thing is compared to another, in the case of English generally using like or as.

A) delimit

B) weasel phrases

C) simile

D) pandering

A figure of speech in which one thing is compared to another, in the case of English generally using like or as.

A) hyperbole

B) prosopopoeia

C) simile

D) parallelism

The use of a word or phrase to refer to something that it isn't, invoking a direct similarity between the word or phrase used and the thing described, but without the words like or as, which would imply a simile.

A) hyperbole

B) prosopopoeia

C) metaphor

D) parallelism

"You are the bread and the knife" is an example of

- A) simile.
- B) process words.
- C) monotony.
- D) metaphor.

When is it appropriate to write descriptively when composing a speech?

A) When you want your speech to sound pretty.

B) All of these answers.

C) When you want to conjure an image in your audience's mind in order to get your point across.

D) When you want to be repetitive in order to emphasize your point.

Phrases that often precede statements and that lack substantive quality.

A) delimit

B) weasel phrases

C) simile

D) pandering

Which of the following is a good example of a phrase that signifies that you are introducing illustrations?

A) considered by many

B) to name an example

C) it is widely believed

D) many people say

The act of expressing one's views in accordance with the likes of a group to which one is attempting to appeal. The term is most notably associated with politics. In _____, the views one is verbally expressing are merely for the purpose of drawing support and votes and do not necessarily reflect one's personal values.

- A) delimit
- B) metaphor
- C) weasel phrases
- D) pandering

Which of the following is a useful element to consider when developing your voice?

A) Who will be present at your speech?

B) What is the occasion, venue, and formality of your speech?

C) What makes you the subject matter expert?

D) All of these answers.