From the list of 20 people (living or dead/fictional or real) that we have brainstormed as a class you now have to work in your group to decide on which 5 people you will choose from this list to go to the island with you. Think carefully about what skills/talents/characteristics/strengths they would be able to provide in order to make your time on the island as pleasant as possible. Your group must agree on the five chosen people and the group leader will have to talk about your choices and the reasons why the choices were made to the rest of the class at the end of the lesson.

... and the lucky five are....

2.

3.

4.

5.
