

The circumflex (^), l'accent circonflexe, arose historically as a marker for vowels which were followed by another letter (usually s) in an earlier state of the language:

être (<estre)

hôtel (<hostel)

forêt (<forest)

plaît (<plaist)